

Midsomer Norton
Schools Partnership

Friday 29th June 2018

Dear Colleagues,

This is the third in a series of communications to you regarding the proposed merger of Midsomer Norton Schools' Partnership and Dragonfly Education Trust.

Since our last communication in April, we continue to work on all aspects of the merger and remain positive about the collaboration of the two Trusts and the opportunities this will afford to the local community. We had previously indicated that the earliest date for any merger would be September 1st 2018 and as we have progressed a more realistic date now seems to be January 1st 2019. The later date will give us time to conduct all the necessary steps prior to a merger whilst the two Trusts continue to work together in the short term maintaining focus on the progress of all children.

We remain committed to undertaking any statutory consultations and communications with interested stakeholders and should you have any questions about this note, or the overall process, then please do contact either of us for clarification.

Yours sincerely

Mark Everett
Chief Executive Officer
Dragonfly Education Trust
